Ventura Highway
Chewing on a piece of grass
Walking down the road
Tell me, how long you gonna stay here Joe?
Some people say this town don't look
Good in snow
You don't care, I know

Ventura Highway in the sunshine
Where the days are longer
The nights are stronger
Than moonshine
You're gonna go I know
'Cause the free wind is blowin' thru
Your hair
And the days surround your daylight
There
Seasons crying no despair
Alligator lizards in the air

Wishin' on a falling star
Waitin' for the early train
Sorry boy, but I've been hit by
Purple rain
Aw, come on Joe, you can always
Change your name
Thanks a lot son, just the same

"Inside every person there is a piece of good news."

BROTHER MARTIN MURPHY

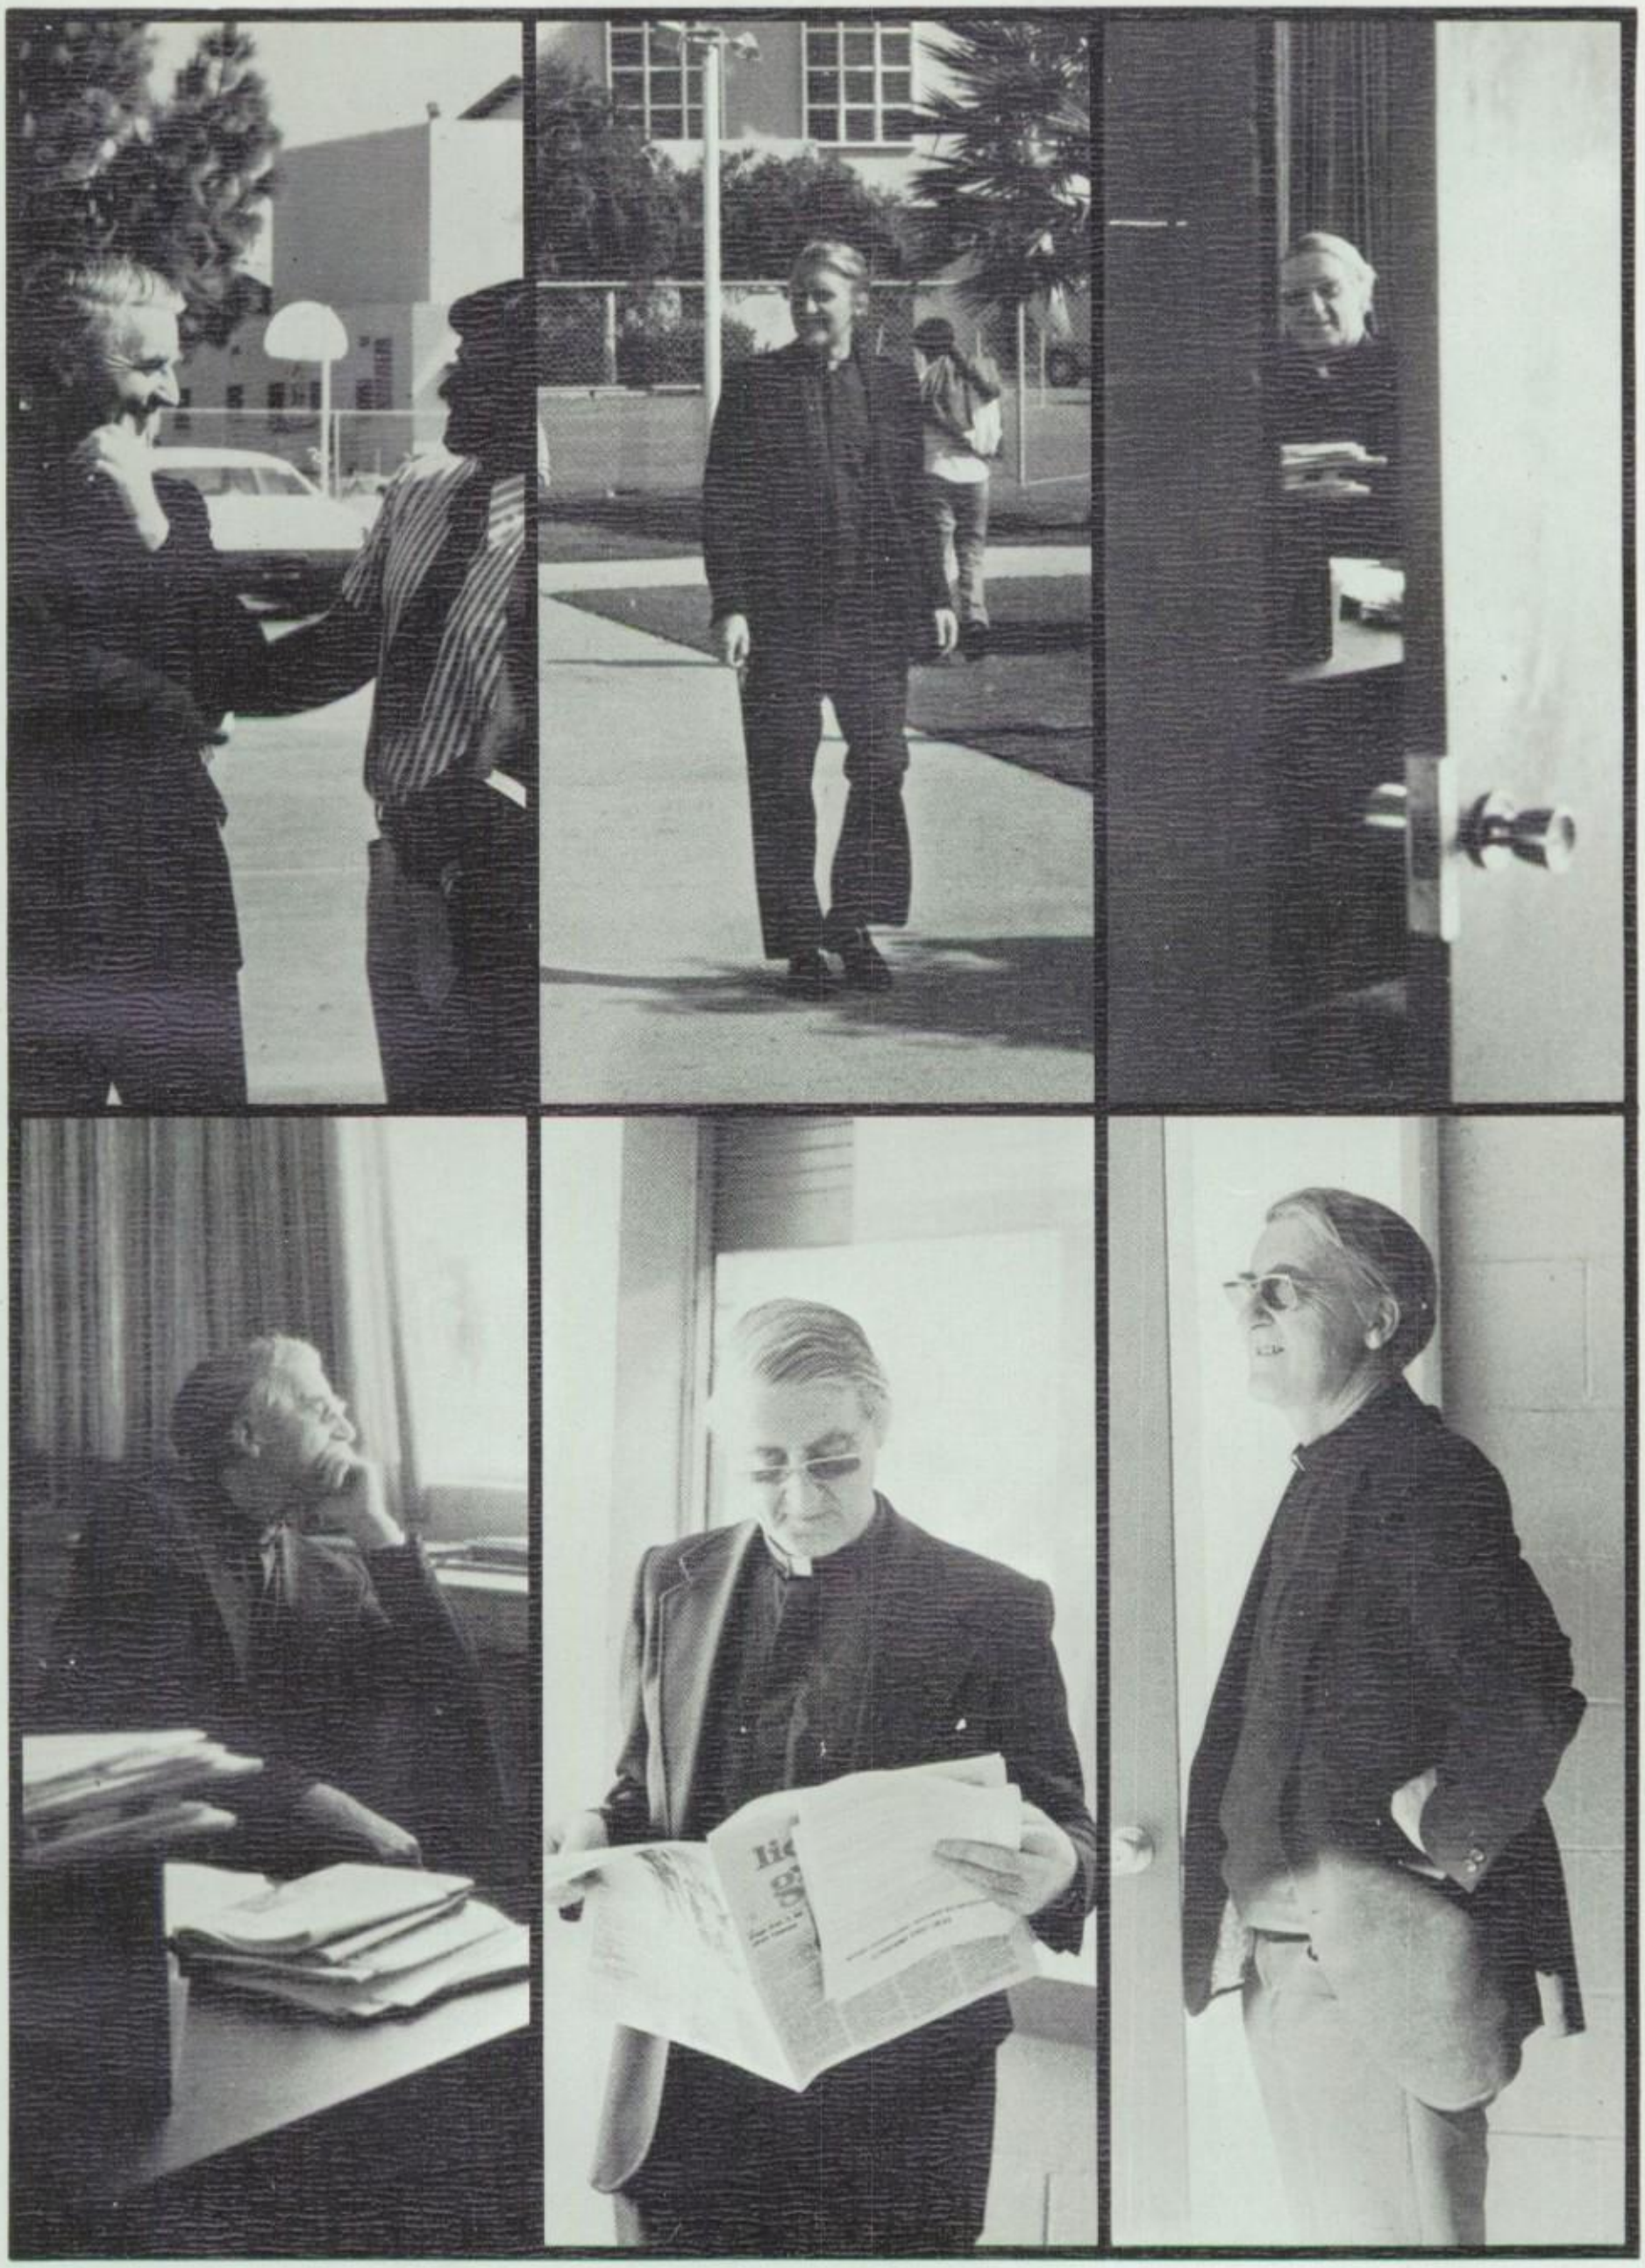
There is a man, a man who has dedicated a good part of his life to our school, a man who is humble enough to stand on the sideline and let others get the credit for his diligence. That man is Brother Martin.

Brother Martin was educated at Dublin University, Waterford Training School, Mt. St. Mary's College and Loyola-Marymount, where he majored in English and Counseling. He came to St. Bonaventure after holding the position of Dean of Boys at St. Paul High School.

Many students do not know Brother Martin well because of his quiet, reserved nature. Brother Thomas says he is "compatible and a nice person to live with."

So, to our favorite golfer, and hard working counselor, we dedicate this yearbook.



There is a being within us all,
a spirit crying out to be recognized,
a hitchhiker along our highway.

Some pick him up;
Some bury him away
in some far-off corner of their mind.

Michelle,
Hello there! Mrs. Buddy
great drama buddy
This year was great & drama really fulfilled it & wish you there it was a real treat you were great at the ceremonial - a real speaker! Well, good luck in the future! See you around and all that! You're a really nice girl, but you're thing about those tear ducts! Stay sweet!
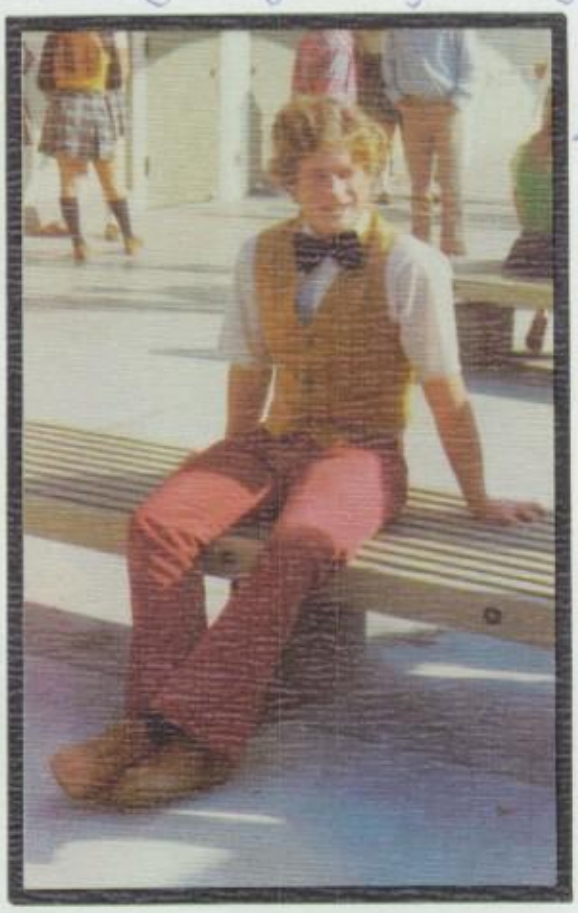
Love,
Meg



I know that I am special.
I know that what I do has value.
I know that I am I and no one else.

We were born individuals yet nurtured with conformity and denied our spirit.

A spirit of dissent exists within all of us, in Purple socks,
Long skirts,
Crosses.

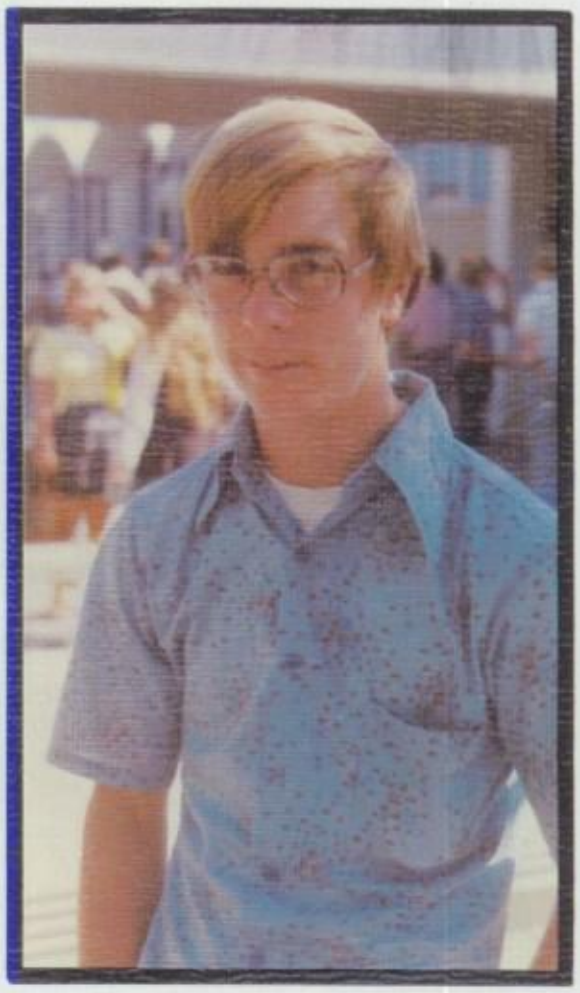
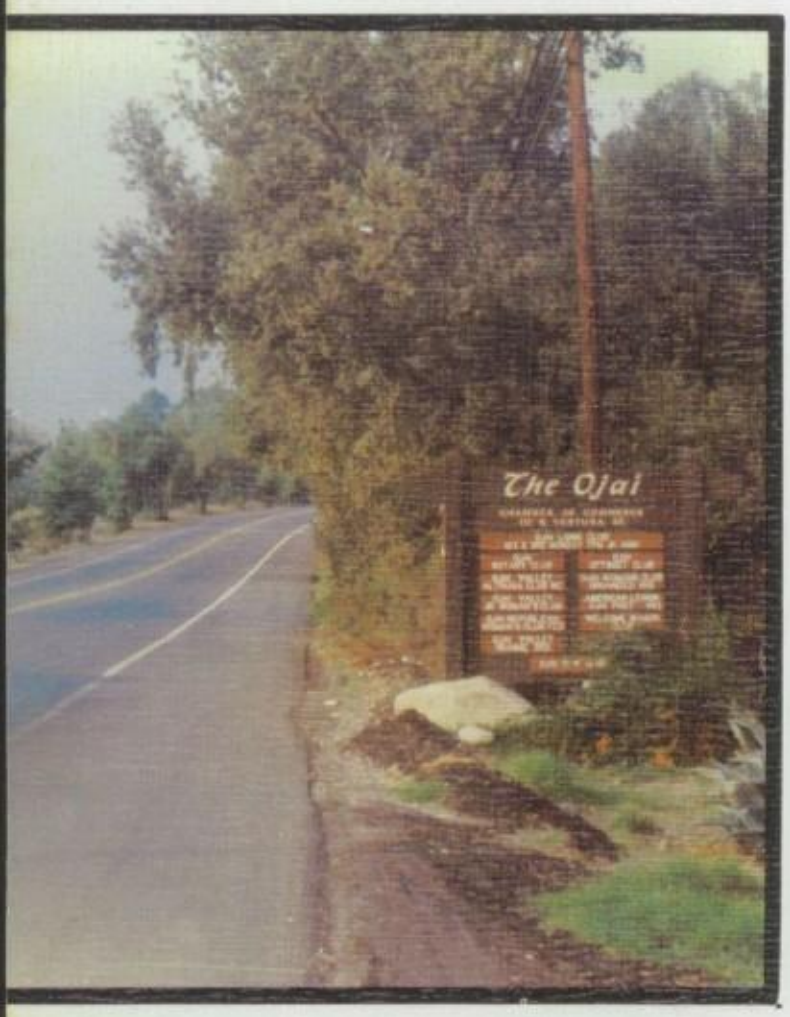
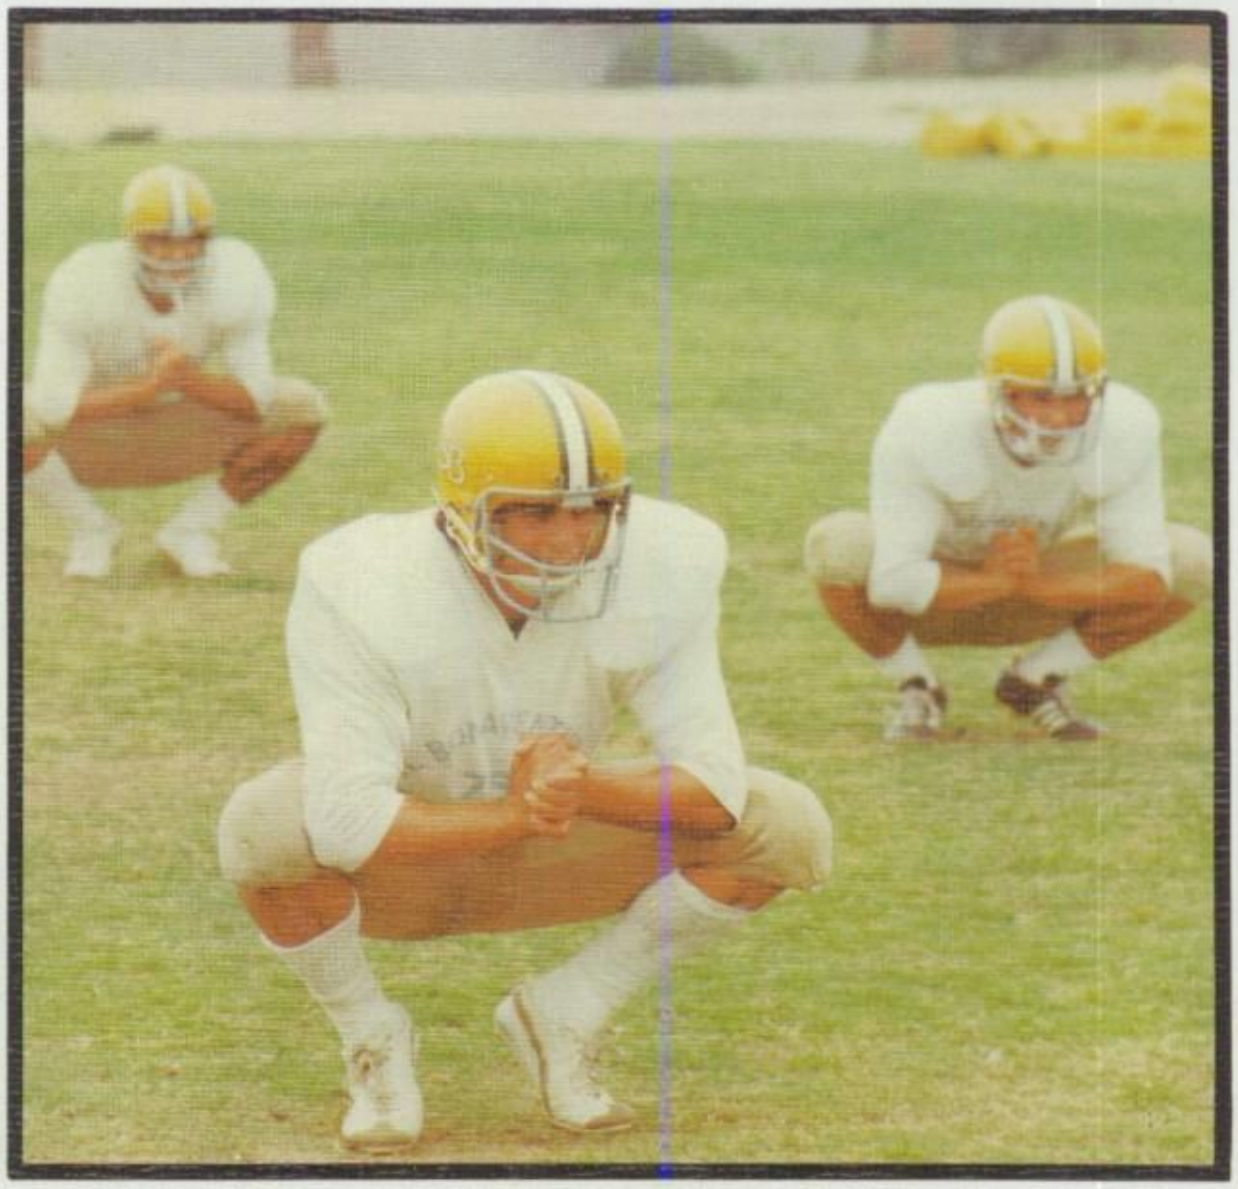
CITY LIMIT

"He had become a personality, something they had filtered out of the system long ago. But there it was, and there he was, a very definitely imposing personality . . ."

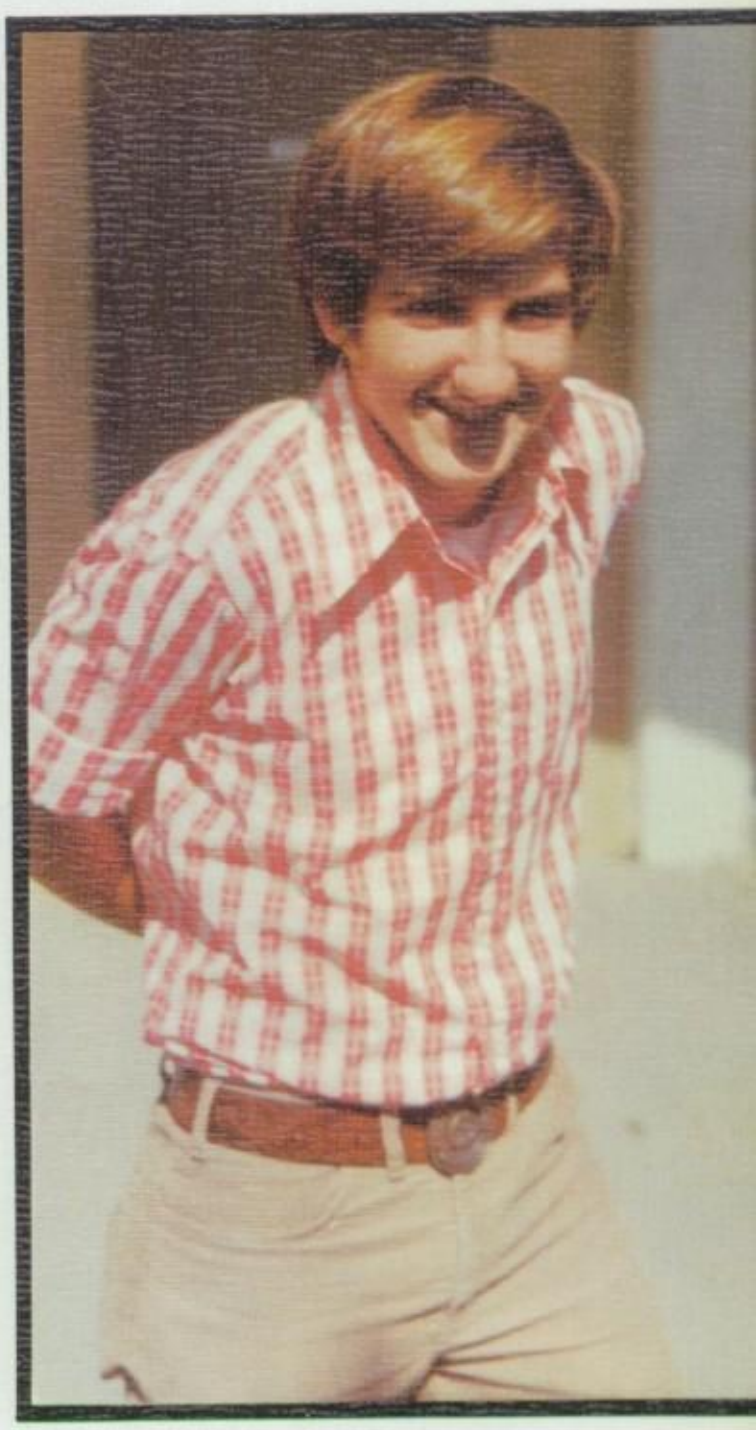






"Down below, where the people always needed their saints and sinners, their bread and circuses, their heroes and villains, he was considered a Bolivar; a Napoleon; a Robin Hood; a Jesus."

— Harlan Ellison



Individualism —
Not necessarily romantic or heroic.
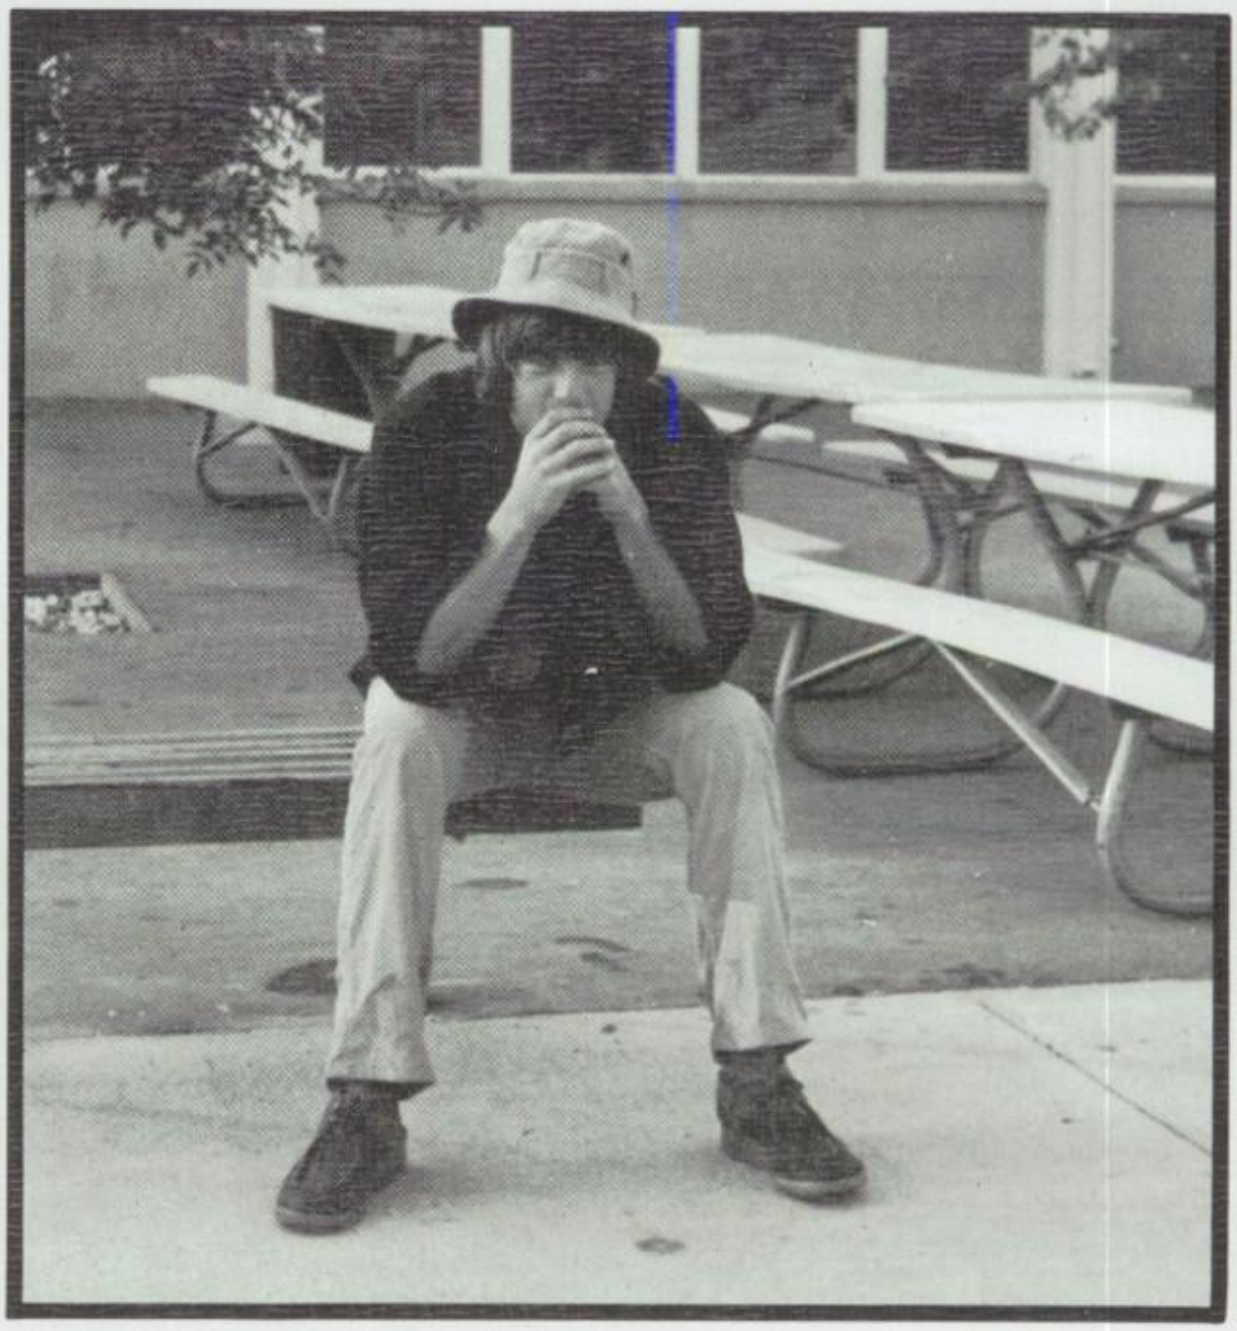
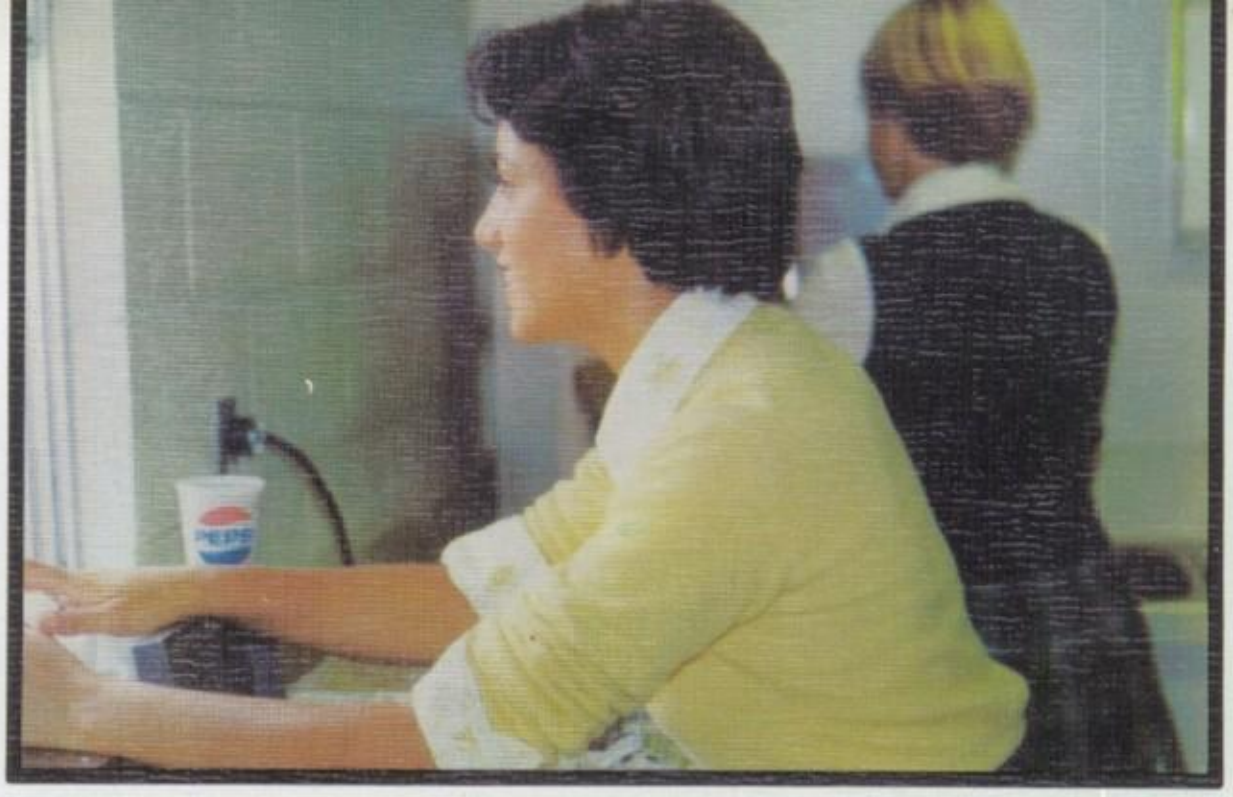
Merely different . . . special.

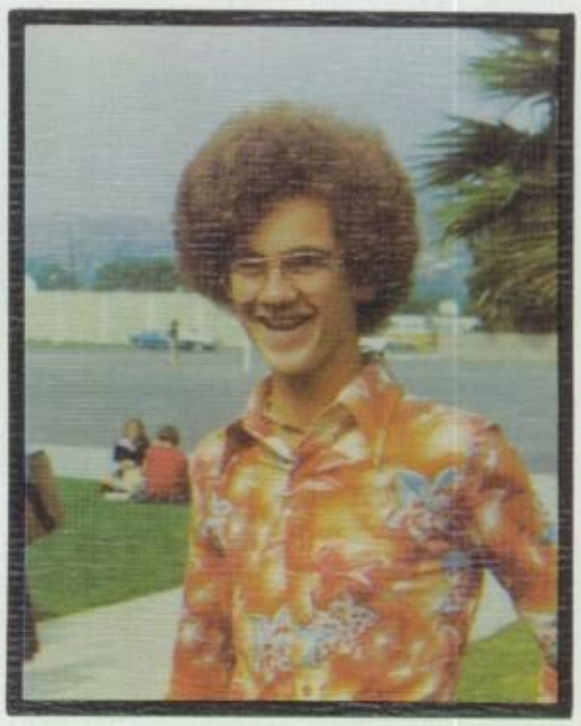


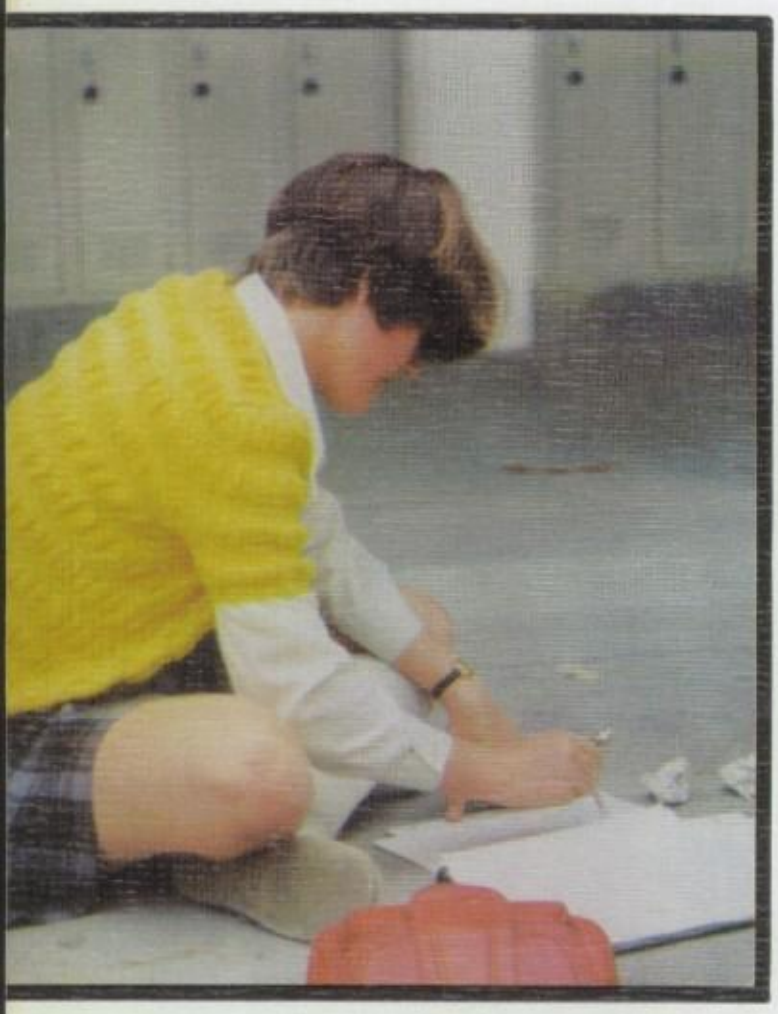
"Be yourself
Be yourself
Then you can
Free yourself.

Be yourself."
— Graham Nash

More than anything else, Jonathan Livingston Seagull loved to fly. This kind of thinking, he found, is not the way to make one's self popular with other birds. Even his parents were dismayed as Jonathan spent whole days alone, making hundreds of low-level glides, experimenting.



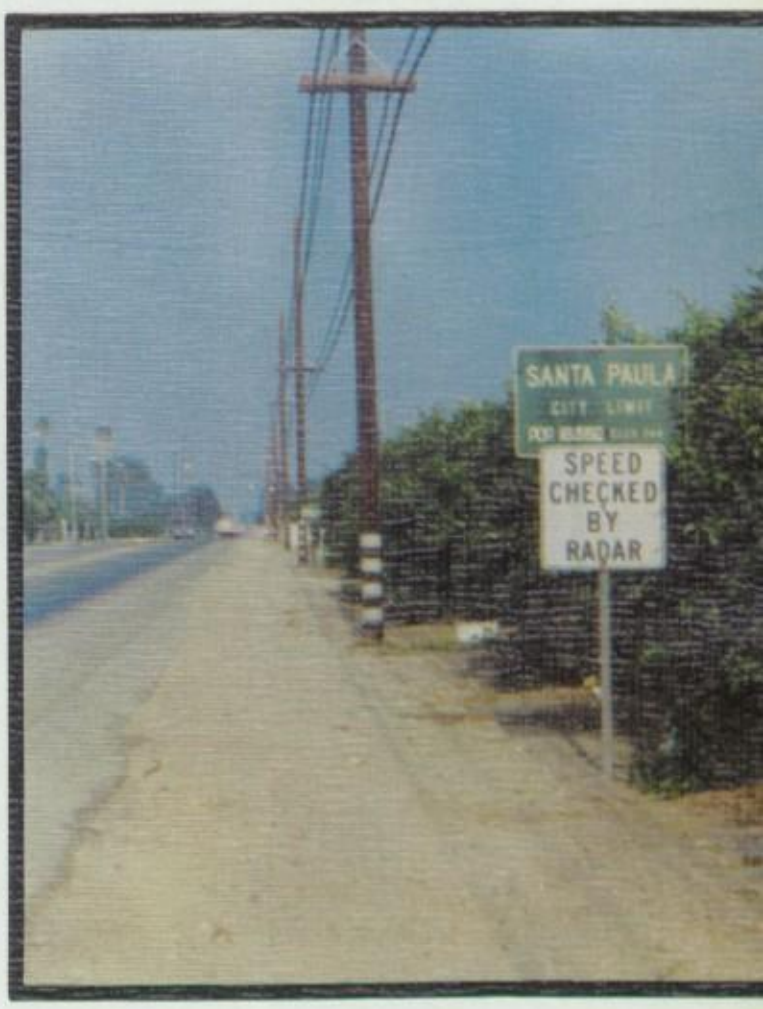




"Why, Jon, why?" his mother asked. "Why is it so hard to be like the rest of the flock, Jon? Why can't you leave low flying to the pelicans, the albatross? Why don't you eat? Son, you're bone and feathers!"

"I don't mind being bone and feathers, mom. I just want to know what I can do in the air and what I can't, that's all. I just want to know."

— Richard Bach



As the GRADUATES prepare to leave St. Bonaventure, they have many fond memories. Always individuals, they remember Santa Claus at Christmas, jack-o-lanterns on Senior Court, selling popcorn balls for King of Clovers, and singing Christmas carols at Easter. They also have their eccentrics, such as one student challenging the entire History class in current events quiz — and winning, or two others who are just so full of pep and vigor that it spreads to everyone. Also to be remembered are those who fearlessly challenged certain teachers — no matter what the consequences, and one who keeps track of crimes and criminals in the nation. It is each person, individually and collectively, who has joined together to make the 1977 graduating class what it is.

The DIPLOMA - a piece of parchment, bound in a leather cover. It expresses so much. It states that each recipient has successfully completed the necessary courses of study to graduate from S.B.H.S. But to each member of the Senior Class the diploma also brings back memories of hours of studying, football games, and food parties. A part of our lives has gone by, but a good part is still ahead. GOALS are something we all hope to reach. We've had classes to help us reach them and some just to have fun. As the year comes to a close, our goals have started to fill out and take on a more definite form. Upon our graduation we will have realized what is ahead of us and how it may be attained. Someday we will reach our final destination.

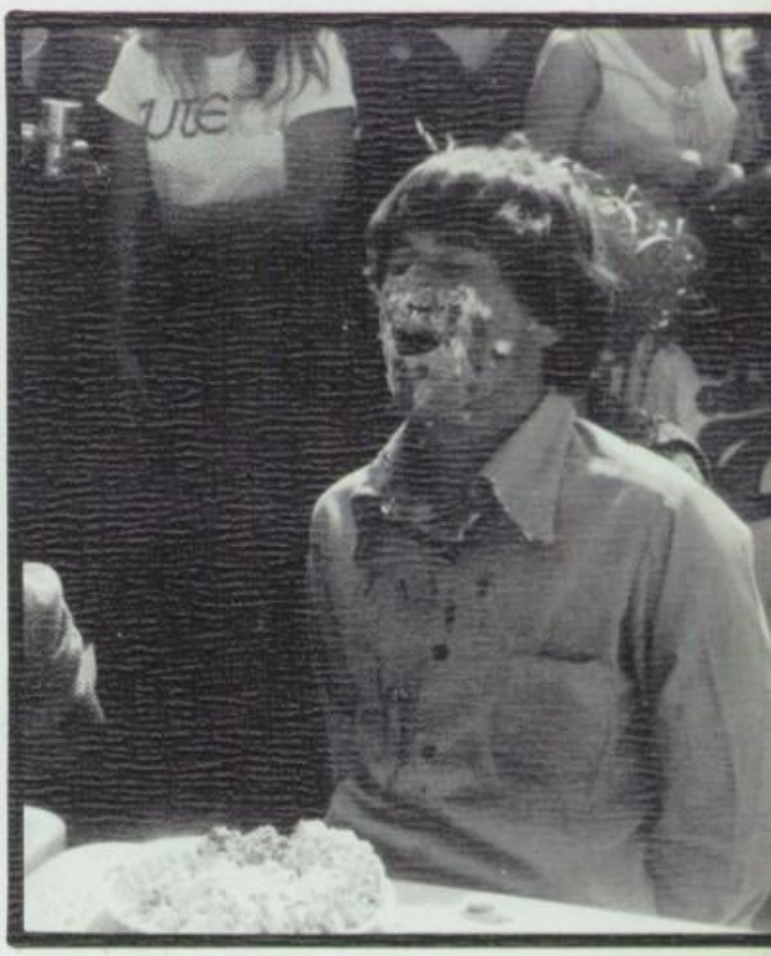
STUDENT LIFE: When a students has had enough of working on academic subjects, he wants to be able to put away the books and have some recreation. At St. Bonaventure there are plenty of activities to suit every student. Homecoming offers the student a chance to cheer at the game, to be in the court, or go the dance. Student Council gives students a chance to participate in the running of the school. Spirit Week give everyone the opportunity to throw pies, run in three-legged races, or be in the powder puff game. Then at the end of the year comes the Prom, the fiesta, and the spring play. Finally there is graduation, the one activity that every student looks forward to.

— Julie Foster, Section editor
— Pete Meyers, Assistant editor



FRESHMAN WELCOME WEEK started off with an assembly, followed by a pep rally, where the cheerleaders taught the new Freshmen a cheer, and ended with a dance. The freshmen were apprehensive at first but later gained confidence as the rest of the school welcomed them.

"CHRISTMAS is in the air" — that is the only sentence that can describe December at St. Bonaventure. So great a feeling did the students have that they wanted to share it with the P.T.G. So, together with Miss Rigali, a few Sophomores put together their ideas, and what did they come up with? The Christmas Special! It consisted of songs, skits, and laughs. But most of all, it brought about a feeling of warmth between the students and parents. It brought about the spirit of Christmas.

A COLD January night in Larrabee Stadium was the setting for the first annual "Almost Anything Can Happen." Shivering and wet. Bonaventure students and faculty competed against Burna and ventura High Schools in comical obstacle courses. Participants swung from ropes while eating bananas, tricycled blindfolded through "rain forests" and popped balloons while riding Hoppity-Horses. In the end, St. Bonaventure defeated the other two schools with a score of 23 points.

Throughout the school year, there's a SPECIAL community feeling — a Christian Community. This feeling exemplifies the goals of St. Bonaventure — that is, to send out young men and women educated in Christian morals and social awareness. One group that expresses Christian Community in a special way is the Lay Apostalate. Among their activities were a Thanksgiving food drive for the poor and a special project aimed at aiding the orphanage "Casa de Los Pobres" in Tijuana.

UNDERGRADUATES come in three styles: freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. And like styles of dress, or flavors of ice cream, each has its own distinctive characteristics. Freshmen are as fresh and green as a scoop of mint chip ice cream. Rocky road is truly what life is for the sophomores, as they struggle through the year. Juniors enjoy the thrill of the large bubbles possible with bubble gum ice cream, and even the chagrin that comes when the bubble pops does not dim their enthusiasm. Just as such diverse ingredients as eggs, chocolate, cream, and sugar blend to create a mouthwatering dessert, so do the very different people in each class create a new whole different from any other class anywhere, and yet, like ice cream, a little the same.

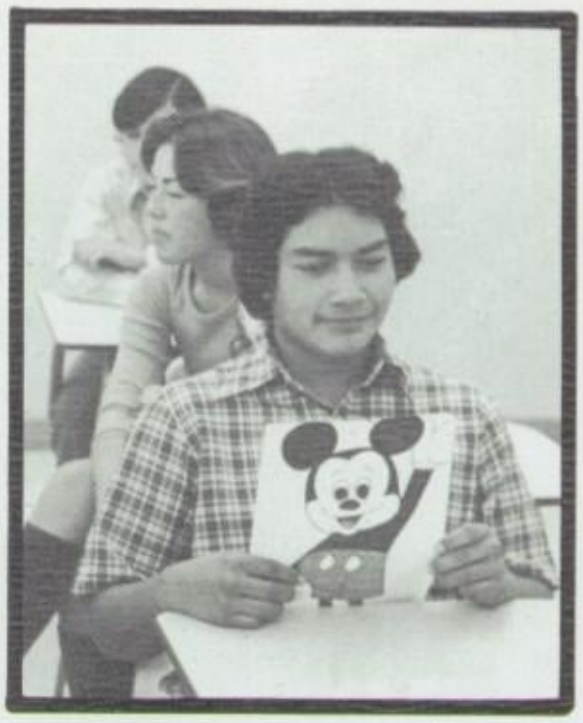
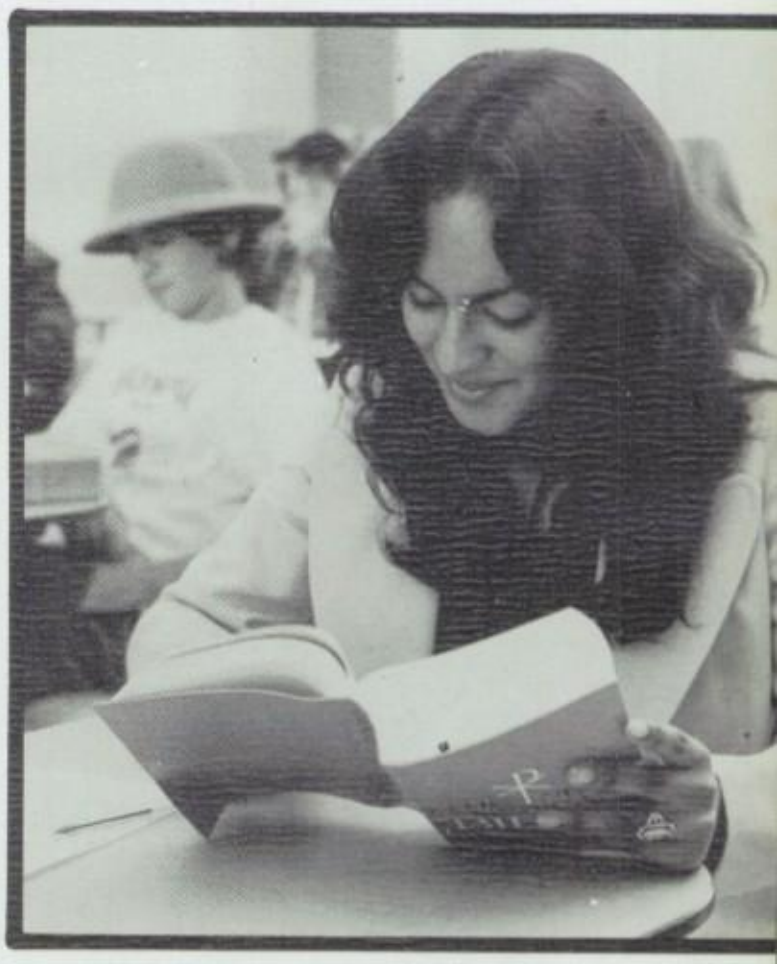
ACADEMICS provides one of the greatest outlets for individuality at St. Bonaventure. Everyone has an opportunity to express himself through his classwork. The purpose of this high school is to provide the opportunity for everyone to develop himself academically, socially, physically, spiritually, and all are interrelated. A person who is concerned with his classwork, and tries his best, is also a mature and dependable person and usually relates well to others. All classes at St. Bonaventure High School are concerned with the development of this fourfold education. With four years of study and academic growth, graduates are ready to face the challenges, problems and goals of a life in a changing world.

— Lisa Ellis, Section editor
— Lynn Crawford, Anna Reyes, Assistant editors





ENGLISH gives every student a chance to enrich his life. Poetry, short stories, and novels all provide a perspective on how other people view life. Besides the points of basic grammar, four years of vocabulary aid every student by constantly adding to and building upon present vocabularies. Writing paragraphs and compositions gives an opportunity for expression and imagination, using all one has learned.

HISTORY is important not only because here one learns important dates and events and people, but one also studies different cultures and ways of life. Knowledge of past national and world problems and their solutions is the key to making safe decisions for the future. By looking back, we can see how people dealt with historical crises and how these crises affected them. History is an interesting as well as informative course.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

can be fun, as well as good for you. Participating in a sport with friends sometime during the working day, sharing laughs outside in the sun or inside when it rains, isn't all bad. But P.E. isn't meant to be an extra break from studies. The daily exercise also keeps students in good health, which is its main objective. So, when you're out there on the field, track, or court, remember — all that fun is doing you a lot of good.

RELIGION classes at St. Bonaventure play a vital role in the personal development of each student. Throughout the four years, problems and questions such as, "Why am I here," "What is my purpose in life?," "What is the mean of life? death? marriage?" and many more are explored and discussed. Hopefully, by graduation time, students have learned enough about themselves, the world around them, and the place of religion in their lives to live a fulfilled and meaningful life.

Tina works hard to finish her pro-life banner. 10. Chuck discovers new meanings in the Bible. 11. Getting along with others is a vital lesson learned in religion.

Michelle,

Well how does it feel to be a graduated senior Kind of weird, I bet. Just think your sister & I will be seniors next year. Now that's hard to believe.

The yearbook came out pretty good if I may say so myself. esp. the faculty section; and of course the senior section did also.

It's been really great in Y.F. and I hope it continues to come! I miss you if you didn't !!

you're really a special person, Michelle; and I wish you the best of luck for your future.

And must take this opportunity to again, compliment you on the fine job you did "Godspell"! It was fantastic!! I guess I'll leave off here. Have a great summer and take care.

Lots of love
Kathy Tallman

God bless you!!

EDUCATORS: Often referred to as faculty, a noun from the Latin FACULTAS, meaning mental resources. It is obvious that the role the faculty of a school plays is that of "Mental resources" for the students. But in this yearbook we have come to know that our staff of instructors is much more than what these few words state. We have been given the privilege of seeing who our teachers really are; seeing what type of things makes each and every one of them unique. Answers to questions like "Who's your hero?" "What is your impossible dream?" "What's your most memorable St. Bonaventure experience?" have enabled us to really meet this year's outstanding educators.

"ALL THINGS bright and beautiful All creatures great and small . . ." Creatures of the earth range from ants to elephants and aardvarks to zebras. Some animals are domestic such as a cat or dog. Others are untamed, free and living in the wilds of Africa. There is still another set of animals — those in a zoo. These are those animals that have been placed in captivity, yet they retained free, unbroken spirits. Many of us as children have identified with all kinds of different animals. We have spent hours stalking our prey as lions, climbing trees as monkeys and soaking up the sun as ferocious alligators. Teachers, as some may not realize, were once children themselves, and they played these imaginary games. We thought it might be interesting to see which animal they would not identify themselves with.

Sr. St. Joan waits for the punch line of Julie's joke.

"DREAMS, so they seem, are way out of reach but forever I follow them from city to beach . . ." There are all kinds of dreams that people will never stop chasing — day dreams, dreams of yesteryear, dreams for the future, and especially "impossible dreams." People just would not be people without dreams. They would have no ambition, no deep, dark, secret desire to become rich or famous. Without their dreams and ideals people would all be the same. There wouldn't be any great movie stars, renowned doctors, or wise old professors. There wouldn't even be any difference in the everyday, ordinary people one meets on the street. Seeking to find what puts our educators in a class by themselves, we asked them to share with us their impossible dreams; to share with us some small facets of their personalities that make them the outstanding individuals that they are.

MEMORIES are one of the most important parts of person's life. When one is feeling blue or defected all he needs to do is pull out one of his favorite memories, sit back in the sun, and let his imagination carry him through the corridors of his mind back to the good old days, when almost anything could and did happen. All have special memories of parties, exciting events, travels, and yes, even to St. Bonaventure. Speaking of St. Bonaventure, what types of memories does this place of enlightenment hold for the teachers? Are they happy, sad or sentimental? Read on and we shall see.

HEROES are distinguished figures in the eyes of each individual. The students here at SBHS have many heroes that range from the great John Wayne to the equally great Super Chicken. But to whom does our fine staff of educators look? Who has earned the right to be called their heroes? Some are renowned and others are not, yet all are great. Take a look at our faculty heroes.

FIRE tends to cause people to really think about life and its many gifts, values, and treasures. It is known that each person's set of values is what really makes him an individual. By asking the faculty to list three things that they would take with them if their house was on fire, we see them not as teachers but as individuals.

T.V., in days of long ago, was a novelty in the American society. Nowadays, this so called "boob tube" is a part of just about every household. It is a source of relaxation and, believe it or not, an educational aide. It is used in schools to view such things of historical importance as an assassination, the launch of a rocket, or the inauguration of a president. It is sad when society labels the fine example of technology as a useless box that takes up valuable time. People just never think of the useful aspects of television. Turning to the relaxing side of this miniature movie screen, we find programs that cater to all the different age levels, and that deal with every imaginable subject, and interest. Most people who wile away the hours in front of the tube have a favorite show. Through many inquiries, we have come to the conclusion that the teachers, like the students, have a favorite T.V. program. These were some of the findings.

The ATHLETE. What does the Seraph learn from such an experience? The Seraphs learn determination and the importance of trying to reach their goals. They learn not to cash in when the chips are down. They learn to take the losses with a smile, to win graciously, to work with others in order to reach a common goal, to participate and to be good sportsmen. Furthermore, they learn that what is important is not whether they were the best or the worst, but the fact that they were out there trying. In short, they learn about life. The Seraphs take what they learn and apply it to their own lives. They prepare for the ever-changing world around them. And the most important part of life they discover — something no one else may never know — is themselves. The Sports Section dedicates itself to bringing back some of those precious moments when a Seraph felt his very own, best self.

FOOTBALL is a game of breaks, and that recovered fumble or caught pass often decides the outcome of the game. In spite of spirited and hard-fought battles, the Seraphs always seemed to come up short. For the team and their loyal followers, victory often appeared only a grasp away. Injuries, defections, and plain hard luck haunted the Seraphs down to the last seconds of the final game.

1. Varsity coaches: Ken Duncan, Jim Krall, Head Coach Brandt Jackson, Mickey Sneddon. 2. Don Ski picks up valuable yardage. 3. The mighty Seraphs charge onto the field. 4. FOOTBALL is also a commitment to hard practice and dedication to your team. The new football program was built around pride, poise, and perfection. Pride — to be able to keep playing your hardest, down to the final gun. Poise — to act and think clearly when the chips are down. Perfection — to execute your assignments to the best of your ability. The Seraphs proved to their coaches and their school that the points on the scoreboard never tell the whole story.

DESIRE was the word to describe this year's Junior Varsity football team. After many heated contests, the J.V. gridders always seemed to get the bad break. The J.V. Seraphs lost 3 games in the last 12 seconds of the contest, their only victory being against Mary Star. The J.V.'s look forward to a more impressive season next year.

EXPERIENCE is the one thing the JV team lacked, although they had determination, courage, and heart. After hard work and practice, the JV's, led by such veterans as John Poindexter, Peter Hendrick and Tom Mellring, proved to be a very hard-hitting and competitive team.

1. Hendrick gains some yards. 2. Reyes runs along the sidelines. 3. John Reyes runs it back. 4. The defense stops the runner cold. 5. Peter Hendrick boots another 3-pointer. 6. EXCITING, frustrating, nerve-racking, unbelievable, and disappointing are the adjectives that best describe this year's varsity volleyball team. They were contenders for C.I.F. all the way to the last game. Even though they missed C.I.F. acceptance by the loss, all the girls will say it was a most enjoyable season and they will be looking forward to next year's battle for a place in C.I.F.

1. Lauren watches to see if her serve hits home. 2. Varsity rejoices after victory, but Mrs. Navarro calls it a close game. 3. Becky is up for the block! 4. Gina does the good luck ritual dance before every game . . . 8. Karen uses something she learned from the martial arts to get her serve over. 9. Anne sets another beauty as Becky looks on. 10. Chris offers a helping hand, or should we say bump?

"C'MON, SERAPHS, fight like champs" the cheerleaders yell as the ball is in play. And champs they all were in their own right. No matter how far down they were, they never gave up. Not even the last point! In one particular game, the Seraphs were down 14-9 but held on to win it, 16-14. This was an example of one of the Seraph's best aspects: determination. And nothing describes a Seraph better than being determined to still give 100% when the chips are down.

"THE ABILITY to put it all together when needed" best describes the J.V. Volleyball team. The J.V. team, made up of very promising future varsity players, came in 3rd in league play. With such team leaders as Gina VanGundy and Lysa Colitti, the J.V.'s were never far from victory. St. Bonaventure can be truly proud of its rising volleyball stars.

1. Annette and Gina take a cooler between games. 2. Mrs. Navarro and the team talk it out. 3. Franny bumps a high one as Tina looks on. 4. Chris congratuates Annette on a game well played. 5. Kelly thinks "You're not going to decapitate me with your spike?" 10. Lysa gets down for the low ones. 11. Donna serves with all her might.

WATCHING young boys and girls grow into mature adults through the participation in sports was the general theme of this year's Fall Sports Banquet. Emotions of love and appreciation were not held back as letters and plaques passed from the hands of coaches to team members and team members to coaches. This year's Fall Sports Banquet will always be remembered not only for its good food and humorous recollections, but for a new closeness in the St. Bonaventure Seraph Spirit.

"EXCITING!" "It's really great . . . I mean the competitions and all." "It's rewarding — that feeling after you've made a strike." "It" is bowling. And to the 32 students who practice every Thurdsay afternoon "It" is terrific. It may not be as popular as football or track, but the athletes of this sport have also struggled long and hard to perfect themselves, and their scores and averages show it. Not only is there the thrill of the sport; there is also time for the bowlers to socialize and get to know each other better.

1. Franny Fischer yells, "Hey, stupid, you're supposed to go this way!" 2. Bill Tallman exhibits his style of bowling. 3. Maria eyes her present situation. 4. GRUELING was the word for the 1977 Varsity Basketball Season. The Seraphs never seemed to have the breaks go their way, and this was reflected on their record. Nevertheless, they showed the fans and the League a true spirit of determination and provided a lot of excitement and vivid memories about this season. The outlook for next year is another spirited and determined basketball squad that will try to break out of its streak of bad luck.

The SUCCESS of Bob Rostohar was the most exciting part of this year's basketball season. Bob, who was last year's C.I.F. Player of the Year and the top scorer in the County, will be very high on the list to earn these awards again this year. Bob put together a super season in which he averaged 29 points and 19 rebounds a game. Bob leads the League in both of these categories. Bob's super season helped him put a tight grasp on the title of St. Bonaventure's all-time top score.

CONFIDENCE is another name for this year's Girls' Varsity Basketball team. It was confidence in each other and in themselves that made the Seraphs start off the season with a bang. And no other place heard that bang louder than when the Seraphs went to battle in the Nordhoff Tournament. When the dust settled, the Seraphs had run away with the championship! You can bet that if they carry this winning confidence throughout the season, the Seraphs will be constant contenders for a C.I.F. position.

As INDIVIDUALS the Seraphs never lost their touch. They were outscoring most of their opponents by 10 or more points a game. In fact, one girl came within two points of tying the all-time school record for most points in a game. Better yet, the Seraphs knew how to use that individual effort to build the foundation for a strong team. Result? By the first week in March, the Seraphs were the ONLY Ventura County squad to rank in C.I.F. They ranked third in the "AA" division

1. Marie and Cathy make sure the ball stays in Seraph territory. 2. The Seraphs on the bench give their comments about the game. 3. Cathy gets down for the free throw. 4. Lauren takes it down court. 5. Karen shoots against tough opposition. 6. Lauren and her teammates wait for the go-ahead from the referee. 7. Becky uses body language to signify victory. 8. Gina is one of the leading scorers on the team. 9. Chris prepares for the pass. 10. Stephanie guards the adversary. 11. Gina increases the lead, as her opponent watches in anguish. 12. "So you think it doesn't get rough out there?"

In 1977 St. Bonaventure produced one of its most colorful girls' basketball teams to date. Through the Junior Varsity Team may have been one of the least experienced seen in a long time, they did not let this factor work against them. Their enthusiasm and desire often carried them to victory. Watching them play and work together, one could see that they had what is needed for a good, strong team. Attitude cannot replace skill in sports, but it is what makes the whole thing work.

1. Ann and Megan keep a close guard on their foe. 2. Mim passes with skill 3. Tina aims to add 2 points to the scoreboard. 4. Kim and the rest of the Seraphs concentrate on the tip off. 5. Ann displays her shooting style. 6. Tina goes for the rebound. 7. Megan prepares for the free throw. 8 Dina keeps her eye on the basket and on her opponents. 9. The many moods of the players are seen on the bench. 10. Leslie stays on her guard. 11. Dina gains the rebound and dribbles it upcourt. 12. Lisa shows how the layup is done.

TALENT has graced this 1977 Varsity Baseball Team. With a combination of a strong, competitive defense and a quick aggresive offense this year's edition of Seraph baseball will be exciting and, hopefully, victorious.

The TRACK team of '76-77 will be remembered in the school record book for years to come. Outstanding individuals such as Don Ski, Andy Brock and Pat Burke either surpassed or tied school records. Outstanding team efforts such as the mile relay team, comprised of Dave Sisemore, Manuel Mejia, Dennis Sizemore, and Bob Clifford, also made their mark. But as good as it all may seem, the Seraphs still compiled a 3-1 league record, taking second place for the second straight year, and once again failed to recapture the Tri-Valley crown. The J.V. team compiled a 2-2 league record, proving to be the promise of the future.

came twenty-six single letters, of which five were used to spell a single word. This word grew in admiration and popularity because it stood for the true meaning of dedication, endurance, strength and unity. The word is "track."

A small group of girls who ran this year in competition were called a "track team" and rightly so, for they measured up to its meaning in every way. Day after day, since the month of February, these girls had been working out for up to three hours a day. You might say it was because their coach made them (You're right.) — but it wasn't. It was because they knew what they expected of themselves, and they would settle for nothing less.

Canty edges out Buena runner in the century. 6. Don and Steve complete the handoff in the 440 relay. 7. Kelly and Lynn battle it out for first, with Cathy closing fast. 8. Peter Hendrick makes a flying handoff to anchorman John Clifford in the 440 relay. 9. Andy Brock knows how to handle his pole. 10. Ann psyches herself up for the mile. 11. Competition: Ski, Poindexter, and Mejia vie for the title of "The Best." 12. Leslie: "I've got another two laps to go?" 13. Paul Bruer feels the excitement of victory. 14. Tony make a successful attempt at the high jump.

FRIENDS are what St. Bonaventure is all about. They're the people you've gone to school with since the first grade, the new students who just enrolled last week, the teacher you had for English in the ninth grade, the buddy who lets you into the lunch line, the dean who caught you the first time you tried to get away with something, the secretary who made sure you always got those messages from your mother . . . They're everywhere you look.

But there are also those friends you don't see — those patrons and businessmen who made it possible to finance this yearbook through their contributions. On the following pages you will find their names and places of business. Please support them in return for their generosity to us. Thanks — to all all our friends.

Oh man, what can I say after all these years!! Too many memories to recall and thank you for. Too many things to say, and not enough time. To much to do and say and no words to say them with. We've been through a lot eh?? But nothing to prove, nothing to express what is between true friends who have never said what should have been said.

Dear Michelle
We had alot of good times together this year, at school and at the Youth group. They will always be remembered, (since you have to go all finish tomorrow) so & this space is reserved.

Hi Michelle,
Well we've made it through school. Such an accomplishment. I hope you have a great life. Good luck. See you around.
Love,
Lisa

Dear Sandy,
I don't see any sort of a sign telling me that this page is reserved so I guess I will take a chance and write my story here! I'm leaving for Seattle in four days and more says we plan to return by July first. Please, Please, come to help me entertain all those boys when they come back with us! I'll give you a call, and you had better be home, okay? I hope and you help me hope, too, that Dan will come back with us from Seattle. I want so bad for you to meet him! Gosh, he should come at least for a week or two!
Anyways, Michelle, Sandy... whoever you feel like being today, Take Care of yourself until I see you next, and I will see you again soon. And My best Wishes go with you with the rest of your schooling, and throughout your future years!

With Love, Ross Melanie (Mel)

You remember me don't you?
You're homeroom pal!?!

Ventura Highway
Chewing on a piece of grass
Walking down the road
Tell me, how long you gonna stay here Joe?
Some people say this town don't look
Good in snow
You don't care, I know

Ventura Highway in the sunshine
Where the days are longer
The nights are stronger
Than moonshine
You're gonna go I know
'Cause the free wind is blowin' thru
Your hair
And the days surround your daylight
There
Seasons crying no despair
Alligator lizards in the air

Wishin' on a falling star
Waitin' for the early train
Sorry boy, but I've been hit by
Purple rain
Aw, come on Joe, you can always
Change your name
Thanks a lot son, just the same

Michelle,
You've been a good friend to me this year. I'm sorry to miss not having you around, but I'm sure I'll be seeing you enough. Godspell was really a blast. It was good having you in it. Take care and have a great summer.
Love Bill
